

Data Processing Agreement

In accordance with Act No. 101/2000 Sb. on the protection of personal data, by submitting this form, you give consent to storing and processing your personal data among the correspondence seminars organised by the Faculty of Mathematics and Physics of Charles University in Prague (the correspondence seminars):

“I, the person named on the registration form, consent to processing personal data contained within this form by the correspondence seminars for the purposes declared below, for a duration of five years since this acknowledgement. I’m aware of my rights under sections 12 and 21 of Act No. 101/2000 Sb. on the protection of personal data and its subsequent amendments. I have been informed of all parts of the form and all the presented information is correct, up-to-date and provided freely.”

Processing of personal data within this form exists for the purpose of keeping the records of participants and supporters of the correspondence seminars, for the purpose of proper operation of the correspondence seminars (mainly supplying leaflets containing the current series of the online competition, sending corrected solutions back to participants of the online competition and informing about events run by the correspondence seminars) and for occasional (up to 6 times per year) promotion of other events connected to physics or the Faculty of Mathematics and Physics of Charles University in Prague.

By submitting this form, you also consent to the recording of your likeness in visual or audiovisual recordings during the activities organised by the correspondence seminars, and to the subsequent free use of such material, unlimited by time or location and without any financial compensation. The correspondence seminars are permitted to further distribute and reproduce these materials for their own promotional use. This may include (but is not limited to) the right to use them in their printed and online promotional materials, video, webpages and social networks.
